

NOTICE

This is to inform all, that the department of psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh has neither permitted nor is associated with National Association of Psychological Science (NAPS, India), its activities, Indian Psychological Science Congress and the Indian Journal of Psychological Science; a journal of this association– NAPS which is published by a private entity).

The Association, its journal and its conferences are being managed and conducted privately by one faculty member in his individual capacity and not as a representative of the department of psychology, Panjab University, Chandigarh. No communication/ grievances regarding the association and its events will be entertained by the department. The university had conveyed to the organizer not to use the name of the department of psychology, Panjab University for its promotion, events and any other activity, as it is misleading for the general public.